Dave, please let me know if this accomplishes what you are looking for from us. Thanks.

Alpine Painting partnered with Walton Signage in mid-2024 to complete a large structural restoration project in the heart of Times Square. The work involved the sandblasting, welding, priming and repainting of an elevated support structure on the rooftop of a multi-level retail / tenant building. The Alpine team, led by Dave Scaturro, met all project benchmarks, adhered to permit and code requirements, came in on budget and kept the Walton team apprised throughout the project. Alpine attended all pre-work onsite meetings and delivered detailed write-ups on all work proposed. The work was completed without incident or damage to any property. All materials, labor and fees were accurately quoted and accounted for at the end of the job. Communication between all work groups was outstanding. No additional visits were required to clean up the workspace or to address any missed areas, and there were also no reported issues at ground level.
